RE: Agencies at Risk for Losing Federal Tax-exempt Status

DATE: September 27, 2010

FROM: Chris Bitner, Legislative & Regulatory Affairs Committee

The Internal Revenue Service has published a list of non-profit organizations that are at risk of losing their tax-exempt status because they have not filed with the IRS for three consecutive years (2007, 2008, and 2009).

This web site includes a news release, filing instructions, frequently asked questions, and instructions of what to do should you feel there is an error.

The list of at-risk organizations in New York State is attached. A quick search for “ambulance”, “rescue”, or “emergency medical service” yielded numerous results. NYSVARA strongly encourages its members to insure their organizations are not at risk.
